Restaurant Technologies, Inc.
Opens Depot in New Jersey

MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA, December 8, 2005 – Restaurant Technologies, Inc. (RTI), a leading provider of bulk cooking oil management services to the restaurant industry, is pleased to announce that the company has opened a depot in Clifton, New Jersey.

Opened this past July, the depot will employ approximately 20 personnel. Michael DeYoung, general manager of the depot, oversees the facility and its operations, which is located at 446 Getty Avenue.

RTI provides a single source solution for the handling of frying oil. The company has strategically located depots throughout the United States to support its customers, which include companies in the fast food industry, restaurants, grocery stores, school, hospitals and other food service providers. A depot serves as the distribution center for delivering new cooking oil and housing waste oil. Each depot houses four varieties of oil in 13 large tanks with oil capacity of 240,000 lbs. Currently, RTI has 28 depots nationwide with plans to expand to 36 by the end of 2006.

“We are pleased to expand our operations into this market,” said Jeffrey R. Kiesel, chief executive officer at Restaurant Technologies, Inc. “Our customer base is growing and we believe RTI can provide more efficient service and delivery by opening this new facility. We look forward to be a part of the Clifton business community.”
